

North American Resource Capital is owned and operated by Richard Cassiano, who has been in the finance industry over 30 years. North American Resource Capital is a conduit to lenders for the past 20 years, for businesses that are not finding the financing they need where they are looking, and for those that make more money at what they do best, then spending precious time looking for financing.

Lenders range from Banking, to Commercial, to Private Institutions.

We have a unique perspective, knowing what the prerequisites of numerous Lenders are, for: Business Loans; Loans for Start-ups; Lines of Credit; Mortgages; Working Capital, and most financing a business may need.

The advantages of working with North American are:

- Save time and money (as time is money in business) so you secure financing quickly, and not miss a business opportunity.
- Secure the most advantageous and appropriate lending products and rates available to you.
- Not shoot yourself in the foot with the wrong approach or presentation to possibly the only Lender that may accept your unique situation.
- Using a 3rd party can not only save you time and money, but may even get you a better deal than your own bank can offer, even with all costs considered. I can provide specific examples.
